

Mutiny the Captain

If one would want to get rid of their captain, Mutiny was a quick option. The crew would take over the ship and name a new captain. If you succeeded then you were powerful on the high seas, but if you failed, it could cost you your life. This game is not so serious on the mutiny side but on the wet and water side of game playing.

Supplies:

One hose

How to play:

The person who is “it” has the hose.

The other players stand in front of the “it” person, a little ways away.

The person who is “it”, also known as “the captain” will ask “who will mutiny the captain?”

The other players say “We will”. They quickly walk up towards the captain. The first person to reach the captain without getting sprayed with the hose is now the new captain.

If upon asking the mutiny question everyone gets sprayed with the hose, they must return to the starting line for another round. The captain is still the captain.

Just remember to spray the hose at waist level. Spray in the face hurts.
